

Introduction for Michelle Tillis Lederman

Are you thinking about the next level in your career?

Have you come to realize that who you know is more important than what you know?

If you answered yes to either of these, then you are in the right place.

Our speaker was named one of Forbes Top 25 Networking Experts, is the author of four books including the internationally recognized The 11 Laws of Likability and her latest, The Connectors Advantage (both of which are available today!) A regular in the media on leadership and workplace effectiveness, our speaker has appeared on CBS, NBC, NPR, the NY Times, the Wall Street Journal, Working Mother, and Forbes among others.

When not engaging audiences, she is an expert chauffeur to her kids, an average skier, and skilled walker of her two rescue dogs.

Known for helping people work better together and advance their individual impact please help me welcome Author, Speaker and woman who just learned how to ride a bike...

Michelle Tillis Lederman

(pronounced the same as David Letterman)
